

High Quality Raw Materials
for the IVD Manufacturing Industry

Lyophilised recombinant antigens for IVD diagnostic of human and animal infectious diseases, as well as allergies

Simplify logistics and reduce shipping costs

The dry powder products reduce the cost of transport as they can be shipped at room temperature and do not require dry ice. Moreover, the lyophilised format facilitates the entry of the product to a greater number of countries, without the need of intermediaries.

Take a look at our portfolio and choose the best product format according to your needs. If you need any advise, please, do not hesitate to contact us.